

ANARCHISTS TRIED FOR A HIGH CRIME.TWELVE CONSPIRED AGAINST THE AUSTRIAN EMPEROR.

The Band Who Sought to Take His Life Last November Are Arraigned Before a Star Chamber Tribunal—Fresh Demonstrations Alarm the People of Paris.

VIENNA, Feb. 19.—The trial of the twelve anarchists arrested last September for conspiracy against the life of the emperor, began this morning. The proceedings are secret.

PARIS, Feb. 19.—A bomb similar in its construction to those used by Vaillant and Henry was found yesterday on the staircase of the police station in the Rue du Temple, one of the oldest and busiest streets of the city, and which leads to the Hotel du Ville. On this street is the Marche du Temple, occupying the site of the Tour du Temple, which during the revolution was used as a prison of the royal family.

Anarchist Henry made a further confession to the police yesterday, and as a result of it his mother's house was searched last night. The police found much chemical apparatus and a number of letters and photographs, including a group of twenty anarchists. All of these things will prove valuable to the police in their efforts to arrest the other anarchists who were implicated in the plot with Henry. Henry also divulged the names of several of his anarchist friends, and their arrests are expected to take place in a short time.

BARCELONA, Feb. 19.—Six of the leading anarchists who have been arrested have confessed that they were accomplices in the attempt upon the life of the civil government. This attempt, they say, was an act of vengeance for the death of Pallas. They declared their comrades who have not been arrested would avenge them.

NEGOTIATIONS LIKELY TO FAIL.

China and Russia Cannot Agree as to Ownership of the Pamirs.

ST. PETERSBURG, Feb. 19.—The negotiations between China and Russia in regard to the Pamirs are meeting with serious obstacles. A satisfactory conclusion now seems improbable. The Chinese maintain that the Pamirs form part of their empire. The Russians insist that the country has been theirs since 1875, owing to their conquest of Khokand. Russia, it will be remembered, declined the proposition of a joint negotiation on the Pamir question with Great Britain and China, preferring to deal with each of these powers separately.

Condemn the House of Lords. LONDON, Feb. 19.—Four thousand persons assembled in Trafalgar square yesterday in answer to an appeal for a manifestation against the house of lords for destroying the clauses in the parish councils bill which called for a reforming of the London vestries. The meeting, with much show of feeling, adopted resolutions condemning the house of lords for its action in this matter.

Congratulate the Government. BERLIN, Feb. 19.—Two thousand merchants and manufacturers of the German empire met here yesterday. The assemblage was presided over by a prominent liberal member of the reichstag. It was resolved to congratulate the government upon the conclusion of the treaty with Russia.

WOMEN SUFFRAGISTS.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 19.—The ladies attending the woman suffrage convention had their photographs taken in a group Saturday. There was a feeling that the next meeting should be held in some other city than Washington. Invitations were extended to the convention to meet in Washington, Cincinnati, Atlanta and Detroit. Fifteen minutes were allowed to the adherents of each city to present its views. Washington found a friend in Mrs. Lillie Devereaux Blake. Miss Anthony seconded Mrs. Blake. Atlanta, Ga., was finally chosen as the place for holding the next annual convention.

Four Men Killed in a Mexican Riot. LEON, Mexico, Feb. 19.—A cooking main was being given at the City of Lazos, near here, last night, when a dispute arose between the owners of two birds pitted against each other. Both men drew knives and attacked each other. Two friends of the men took up the dispute and the fight became general, resulting in four men being stabbed to death and several others seriously wounded.

Tuberculosis in New York Cattle. CANANDAIGUA, N. Y., Feb. 19.—It is stated that the cattle at both the Clifton Springs sanitarium farm and the Geneva experimental station show symptoms of tuberculosis. A veterinary of this place also makes the statement that he has discovered symptoms of its presence in over 150 cattle, and ventures the assertion that one-fourth of the cows in the county are afflicted.

To Move on Chicago Next. LANSING, Mich., Feb. 19.—Grand Commander D. A. Reynolds of the recently organized wholly political and semi-military organization known as the Ancient Order of Loyal Americans, says there are now 1,500 fully organized counties in forty-four states.

ANOTHER WORLD'S FAIR FIRE.

East Wing of the Illinois State Building Wholly Destroyed.

CHICAGO, Feb. 19.—Fire partly destroyed the Illinois State building at Jackson park yesterday afternoon. As there has been no fire in or around the building for months the only conclusion the firemen could reach was that the fire, like the others at the Fair grounds recently, was started by incendiaries. Wreckers have been at work tearing down the building for some time. All the flooring had been removed, and in fact there was little if anything left standing but the staff-neased shell. The loss, therefore, was nominal. Four thousand dollars' worth of lumber was destroyed, but the loss will not fall on the South park commissioners. Sloan & Co. recently purchased the structure for $1,650.

The fire was discovered by a park policeman and an arm was turned in at 2:50 p. m. The blaze started in the southeast corner of the building and was confined to the east end, which was destroyed. A brisk southeast wind was blowing and the whole building was threatened. The east end was blazing briskly, and the flames were sweeping rapidly along the remnants of the roof toward the center, but the work of the firemen proved effective. In a few minutes after the engines got to work the fire was under control, and by 3:30 o'clock there were only smoldering embers left. The fire was drowned out. Experience has taught the firemen how to fight a World's Fair blaze. Axes were brought into play, holes were cut through the staff shell in advance of the flames and a stream directed through the opening made short work of it.

Four of the firemen barely escaped death when the fire was at its height. Lieut. Drew, with Firemen James Gallagher, John Nolan and Linnebarger of Company 71, had taken a lead of hose up on the roof as near as they could get to the flames. The frail structure was already tottering. Marshal O'Malley saw their danger and shouted to them to come down. They ran for their lives toward a stairway. Just as they got out of harm's way the whole east end of the building, including the part where they had been working, fell in with a crash. The crowd that had been watching the four men in suspense sent up a cheer when it saw they had escaped.

UNEMPLOYED AT LINCOLN.

Court-Room Crowded with Men Who Demand Work of the City.

LINCOLN, Neb., Feb. 19.—The courtroom was crowded to suffocation last night by the unemployed workmen of this city, who met to devise ways and means to bring an end to the long period of enforced idleness. The discussion assumed a wide range, but no definite plan was adopted. A large number of resolutions were adopted, demanding that work be furnished them. The meeting also adopted a resolution declaring that workmen should be paid full wages and that eight hours should constitute a full day's work.

BRUTAL MURDER AVENGED.

Negro Slayer of an Alabama Woman Is Riddled with Bullets.

SELMA, Ala., Feb. 19.—Stanton, Chilton county, is in a state of great excitement over the murder of Mrs. Jessie Rucker and its avenging, the dead body of a negro being found riddled with bullets lying near the scene of the dastardly crime, while another negro is under arrest. The place where Mrs. Rucker was murdered is a lonely settlement and, the unfortunate woman being dead, there is no way of getting at the details of the horrible crime.

Temporarily Accept a Cut.

WHEELING, W. Va., Feb. 19.—The plate mill men of the Riverside iron works held a meeting last night to take some action on the proposed cut in wages which will average about 15 per cent. The cut will affect about 300 men. It was decided to work at the reduction until March 10, and in the meantime to perfect an organization of all the employees of the works.

WELLSBURG, W. Va., Feb. 19.—The Forbes, Carmichael & Co.'s coal mines at this place will attempt to resume operations to-day with non-union men, after being idle for several weeks.

Making of the Kearsarge.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 19.—"New Hampshire did much to furnish the country with the Kearsarge, and she is naturally desirous to preserve the old warship," said Representative Blair of New Hampshire referring to his resolution for a Kearsarge rescuing expedition. It is estimated that an expedition could be fitted out to rescue the Kearsarge from the West Indian buccaners for about $12,000. The expedition outfit could be sold when out of use for about $4,000. The estimate is made to cover fitting out the expedition for five months.

Mr. Stone Will Push His Bill.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 19.—Representative W. A. Stone is determined to push his bill for changes in the immigration laws, which will compel intending immigrants to secure certificates of fitness from United States consuls at the ports from which they sail, after undergoing rigid examination. Regarding the extra duties imposed on American consuls, Mr. Stone declares there will be no trouble in filling vacancies if any of the officials resign.

M'KANE IN PRISON
FOR SIX YEARS."BOSS" OF GRAVESEND GOES TO SING SING.

Charge Against Him Was the Withholding of Registration Lists at the Election in November—Other Indictments Are Pending—Gross Corruption Rebuked.

BROOKLYN, Feb. 19.—John Y. McKane, the political boss of Gravesend, was sentenced to six years in Sing Sing this morning. He was found guilty by a jury in the court of oyer and terminer in Brooklyn on an indictment charging him with willfully and fraudulently holding back the registration lists of Gravesend at the election in November. There yet remain a number of indictments upon which he can be tried, all of them growing out of his autocratic conduct during the election of last fall.

JOHN Y. M'KANE.

POTTERS QUIT WORK.

Almost Complete Suspension of that Industry in the United States.

TRENTON, N. J., Feb. 19.—When the whistles in this city blew this morning to summon workmen to toil somewhere between 3,000 and 4,000 pottery employees did not respond. They have not, technically speaking, struck. Neither have they been discharged. But they have refused to accept the new scale of wages, much lower than the old, and the result is a well understood intention on the part of the employers to lock the doors and an equally emphatic unanimous determination of the men not to apply for admission. With the potters went out also more than 1,000 other employees, and the misunderstanding between the men and their employers affect nearly 5,000 persons in this city alone. Simultaneously with the lock-out here at least as many more men employed in and about that other center of the same industry, East Liverpool, Ohio, quit work under exactly similar conditions. There is, therefore, an indefinite and almost complete suspension of crockery pottery manufacturing in the United States.

Directory of Cincinnati Anarchists.

CINCINNATI, Ohio, Feb. 19.—Chief of Police Deitch of this city, who caused the arrest of Anarchist Temmen last night, has in his office a complete directory, giving the name, occupation, residence and personal history of every anarchist or person of anarchistic tendency in the city. This directory also classifies the anarchists as extreme, moderate, and semi-anarchistic. There are, all told, 120 in the city, and all their movements are watched. They have no separate organization.

Riot in a Colored Baptist Church.

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Feb. 19.—A riot during which one man was shot and seriously wounded, and several others were knocked down, occurred at St. John's church, colored, yesterday. There has been trouble in the church for some time and it culminated yesterday in a desperate fight. Andrew Bishop, colored, was shot in the neck by some person unknown. The police made fourteen arrests.

Cyclone Rages Through Louisiana.

HOMER, La., Feb. 19.—A destructive cyclone passed seven miles north of this place at 6 o'clock yesterday evening, the roar of the storm being distinctly heard here. The cyclone struck the northwest point of Paris, traveling northeast, laying waste everything in its path. The casualties known thus far are one white child and one negro girl killed and many wounded.

Went Down With Sixty Men.

NEW ORLEANS, La., Feb. 19.—A rumor was published here about a week ago telling of the loss of the steam tug Millard, belonging to the Nicaragua Navigation company, off the Nicaraguan coast, and having aboard sixty men. The news of the terrible loss of life has been confirmed. It is true that not a single man aboard the vessel survived to tell the story.

Young Linder Dies of His Injuries.

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Feb. 19.—Alfred H. Linder, the Harvard student who was injured in a boxing bout last Tuesday, died yesterday afternoon at 4 o'clock, not having regained consciousness since the time of the accident.

All Reported Quiet at Bessemer.

MARQUETTE, Mich., Feb. 19.—It is not believed here that there has been any outbreak on the part of the miners at Bessemer. At last accounts everything was quiet.

GAVE HIM A KENNEL
IN THE DOG POUND.JEFFERSON SMALL POX PATIENT MAKES TROUBLE.

Council Try to Quarter Him in the County Fair Building But this Was Not Allowed—A Charitable Citizen Finally Offered a Kennel and It Was Accepted.

JEFFERSON, Feb. 19.—The outbreak of small pox at the county jail has compelled Judge Bennett to adjourn court. What to do with the patient has been a problem. The council tried to have him placed in the south end of the dining room in the county fair building. This was promptly vetoed by the secretary of the Agricultural society, and at a subsequent gathering of the City Council it was decided to appropriate the city pound and a large one story dog kennel was offered as a building. It was at once moved to the pound and the patient now lies there bundled up carefully to keep out the cold.

IT MIGHT BE INVALID.

Local Option Law Not in Favor With Lawyers.

DES MOINES, Iowa, Feb. 19.—The question of the constitutionality of the local option law has frequently been urged by people who have appeared before the committees of the legislature on suppression of intemperance. It is claimed by some that if such a law were enacted in Iowa it would be contrary to the constitution and therefore void. Many eminent lawyers of the state have been interviewed on the subject and the majority think the proposed law would be declared unconstitutional.

The report that there are fifty-two republican members of the house who are opposed to local option in any form is discredited by the friends of such a plan and they say that they believe the local option sentiment is growing, and they think that eventually a majority of the members will vote for some such plan.

LINSEED OIL MILL BURNS.

Loss of the Griswold Company at Warren, Ohio, Will Reach $350,000.

CLEVELAND, Ohio, Feb. 19.—The brick mill of the Griswold Linseed Oil company at Warren, Ohio, the second largest plant in the country, was destroyed by fire yesterday. The building, stock and machinery were valued at $300,000, but the loss will hardly reach that amount, as about $50,000 worth of seed and one small building were saved. The insurance is $120,000. The water supply was inadequate and the firemen could do nothing.

Big Reward for the Apache Kid.

TUCSON, Ariz., Feb. 19.—Advices from Bunker Hill, where the Apache Kid made his recent fight, state that Apache scouts who examined the dead squaw found there, say she was Kid's wife. The squaw had on a ring with six marks, which the Apaches say represent six murders. These, added to eleven others which the Kid and his followers have killed during the last two years in Arizona, indicate the ravages of the renegade. Gov. Hughes has issued a reward of $5,000 for Kid dead or alive.

Dynamite in a Cook Stove.

OLATHE, Kan., Feb. 19.—A man engaged in sinking a well on a farm owned by Jacob Smith placed a stick of dynamite in the cook stove oven to thaw out. Mrs. Smith and her daughter-in-law soon after went to work in the kitchen. The dynamite exploded, blowing the stove into atoms, wrecking a portion of the house, and probably fatally injuring the two women.

New York Bank Statement.

NEW YORK, Feb. 19.—The weekly bank statement shows the following changes: Reserve, decrease, $11,096,875; loans, increase, $8,743,360; specie, decrease, $9,212,700; legal tenders, decrease, $3,930,200; deposits, decrease, $4,184,100; circulation, decrease, $447,300. The banks now hold $74,530,775 in excess of the requirements of the 25 per cent rule.

Enormous Shipment of Hams.

OMAHA, Neb., Feb. 19.—The Swift Packing company of South Omaha made the largest shipment of dressed hams that has ever left this packing point. It consisted of thirty carloads and brought the sum of $70,000. The consignment was made to Whitney & Co. of San Francisco, Cal. The total weight was 750,000 pounds.

Fishermen Rescued From the Ice.

ST. PETERSBURG, Feb. 19.—The fishermen who Tuesday night last were carried off on an ice floe which broke away from the coast of Ingermainland were rescued Saturday on a bridge of pole planks after they had been forty-eight hours adrift.

Cartridges for Honolulu.

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., Feb. 19.—When the Australian sailed for Honolulu yesterday afternoon she carried a consignment of fifty cases of rifle cartridges, addressed only by a cabalistic mark. Each of the fifty cases weighed sixty to eighty pounds.

Insane Man Killed.

OXFORD, Feb. 19.—An incurably insane man named Hopkins stepped from a train about two miles west of this city yesterday morning and was killed. Hopkins had been insane twelve years and was returning to Hastings after a visit in Denver.

WORK FOR THE WEEK IN CONGRESS.

The Tariff Bill Will Very Soon Be Reported To the Senate.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 19.—Democratic senators on the Finance committee will make a final effort to fix their bill to-day. The Louisiana people give out that there can be no possible agreement on one cent a pound on sugar, so the committee will be able to leave the free sugar provisions just as they came from the house. A prominent member of the ways and means committee of the house, who has the confidence of the senate committee and who has been with the members frequently since the bill went to the senate, said that it would be absolutely impossible, at the rate the committee was going now, to report the bill for several days. He said the physical condition of the senators of the committee did not permit them to give the labor that assiduous attention that was displayed in the house, and that from the very nature of things their work would be slower. This member also proffered the friendly criticism that the senators appeared to know little about the work, and, having gotten the house bill to pieces, did not appear to know just how to get it in shape again.

FORECAST OF CONGRESSIONAL WORK.

Hawaiian and Bond Questions to Be Debated in the Senate.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 19.—Senators Daniel, Caffery and White of California have given notice of speeches on the Hawaiian resolution for this week, and it is probable that other senators will speak upon the subject. There will be an effort to have the resolution disposed of during the week, as there will also be to get Senator Stewart's bond resolution off the calendar. Speeches on this question will also be made. The special orders for the week include the consideration of the printing site, the Russian thistle and the McGarrahan bill.

The fight over the silver seigniorage bill will be resumed in the house at once and Mr. Bland is confident that there will be a quorum at hand to order the previous question either to-day or Tuesday. Once the necessary quorum is obtained, and that is only a question of time, as the opponents of the measure have practically abandoned hope of defeating the bill, it will be brought to a vote if need be by a special order from the committee on rules, the speaker having promised a special rule if the emergency demands it. Wednesday the Joy-O'Neill contested election case will come up, and before it is disposed of the Cobb-Whitley case and the English-Hittborn case may follow. If not the remainder of the week will probably be devoted to appropriation bills, the fortifications bills being first.

BLAND STILL FIGHTING.

Unable to Secure a Quorum to Limit Debate on the Seigniorage.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 19.—There were only a few score members on the floor of the house when the speaker's gavel fell at 12 o'clock Saturday. Mr. Wheeler (dem.) of Alabama moved that the house concur in the senate amendments to the bill requiring railroads passing through Oklahoma to establish stations and stop their trains at town sites fixed by the secretary of the interior. The amendment made by the senate provided for elections by the people of Oklahoma for the choice of county seats. The house voted to non-concur in the senate amendment and asked a conference thereon.

At 1:10 Mr. Bland moved that the house resolve itself into committee of the whole on his seigniorage bill, that general debate be closed in thirty minutes and demanded the previous question on his motion. A division showed yeas 108, nays 1. Mr. Tracy (dem.) of New York made the point of no quorum and the yeas and nays were ordered. The vote resulted: Yeas, 157; nays 3—no quorum—and a call of the house was ordered. The call disclosed the presence of 157 members and the hour of 2 o'clock having arrived further proceedings under the call were dispensed with.

Mr. McDowell of Pennsylvania called up the resolutions in reference to the death of Gen. William Lilly, late a member-at-large from Pennsylvania, and proceeded to address the house thereon.

"Kid" Thompson Beats Ryan.

CINCINNATI, Ohio, Feb. 19.—Yesterday afternoon a glove fight between Kid Ryan of New Orleans, 114 pounds, and Kid Thompson, colored, of Kansas City, 113 pounds, took place in Dearborn county, Ind., on the river bank between Lawrenceburg and Aurora. Thompson won in fourteen rounds.

Plot to Rescue a Prisoner Frustrated. WICHITA, Kan., Feb. 19.—Clyde Mattox, the Oklahoma murderer, was removed from here to the penitentiary at Leavenworth yesterday. The removal was made to prevent an attempt to rescue him, rumors of which have been in circulation for a day or two.

Wreck on the Pennsylvania.

HUNTINGDON, Pa., Feb. 19.—The Atlantic express on the Pennsylvania railroad, while running at a high rate of speed, ran into a freight train this morning, demolishing three engines and a number of loaded cars. The wrecked cars took fire. The passengers on the Atlantic express were badly shaken up, but no one was seriously hurt.

STOLE TWO COWS IN BORDER STYLE.STRANGERS "HOLD UP" AND ROB A BELOIT FARMER.

One of them Held Him While the Other Drove the Cattle Out of Sight—While the Owner Went For a Lawyer the Thieves Made their Escape.

BELOIT, Feb. 19.—Two strangers examined a couple of cows on D. Schoof's farm near this city, and agreed to buy them. Mr. Schoof accompanied them a short distance to help drive the cows. When about a mile from his house he asked for his money, whereupon one of the men held him while the other drove the cattle away. Mr. Schoof then hurried to Janesville to get legal advice instead of following the thieves, and now all trace of the cattle has disappeared.

DEATH IN THE AIR.

A Car Suspended 200 Feet Above the Tennessee River at Knoxville.

KNOXVILLE, Tenn., Feb. 19.—A frightful accident occurred yesterday afternoon by which Oliver Ledge-wood, a young lawyer, was killed and two others slightly injured.

A car upon cables crosses the Tennessee river just below the city and is operated by a stationary engine on the north bank of the river. While the cage with eight occupants was near the bluff on the opposite side of the river the cable broke and the car dashed down the incline at a fearful speed. The violent motion of the car caused the cable to wrap around it, and when within about 200 feet of the ground crushed it as though it were an eggshell. Oliver Ledge-wood, a prominent young attorney of this city, was struck on the head, killing him instantly. The remaining occupants of the car attempted to jump out of the windows into the river, but were restrained by the brakeman.

Finally a tug was secured and anchored directly beneath the dangling car and the survivors were rescued by means of a rope, each descending hand over hand. At the coroner's inquest it was discovered that the cable had been partially severed by an unknown person.

INDICTED FOR MURDER.

James A. Maney Held for the Killing of Capt. Hedberg.

CHICAGO, Feb. 19.—An indictment for murder in the case of Lieut. James A. Maney, who shot Capt. Alfred Hedberg, was returned by the federal grand jury to-day in Judge Grosscup's court. There never was any doubt that an indictment would be found in the case after the grand jury had heard the evidence, the only question being whether the indictment would be for murder or manslaughter. Lieut. Maney's friends have claimed all along that no malice nor premeditation could be shown, but the grand jury evidently looked at it differently, for the indictment is for murder.

Sell Arms to Indians.

YUCATAN, Feb. 19.—The people of southern Mexico are greatly excited over the action of the English colonists of Belize, across the border, selling arms and ammunition to the Indians living along the border. The terms of the treaty lately signed between England and Mexico forbid either side selling arms to these troublesome Indians. There is much alarm felt among the settlers.

Noted Physician Dead.

SPRINGFIELD, Ohio, Feb. 19.—Dr. A. Dunlap, one of the most prominent physicians in Ohio, died last evening. He was a delegate from the American Medical association to the World's Congress at London, England, in 1881, and one of the earliest physicians to demonstrate the operation of laparotomy, having performed over 400 operations in various parts of the United States.

Street Car Men Asphyxiated.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Feb. 19.—Eight men were overcome by the gas in the basement of the power-house of the Fifth street cable line in Kansas City, Kan., last night and one of them, Supt. C. P. Kine, may die. Several strands of the cable broke and became twisted around a gas main in the basement, breaking the main in two. Seven conductors and grimen went down to splice the cable, and while at work were asphyxiated.

Forest Fires Near Manitou.

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo., Feb. 19.—A forest fire has been burning in the mountains northwest of here in the neighborhood of the Manitou mining camp. The fire is fanned by a stiff breeze from the south and is making great headway. It is supposed to have started from a miner's camp fire.

Rioters Found Guilty.

PITTSBURG, Pa., Feb. 19.—Thirty-seven Mansfield valley miners, charged with riot, have been found guilty and twenty-one are declared innocent. The latter were discharged and the thirty-seven convicted were remanded to jail for sentence.

Editor Horsewhipped by a Woman.

MADISON, Neb., Feb. 19.—Dr. J. H. Mackey was horsewhipped last night by the wife of Peter Rulf, a prominent citizen. The woman used a black-snake whip to good effect on Mackey, and then set her dog on him.

MATTHEWS SAYS HE WILL BE CLEARED.

THE EX-OFFICER STOUTLY DENIES HIS GUILT.

The Accused Janesville Man Demands a Continuance In Order That Evidence In His Behalf Can Be Secured—Owner Of the Cloak Tells His Story.

"A good-looking and well-dressed young man, about 28 years of age, with a neat black mustache."

Thus does the Chicago Evening News describe Ed. T. Matthews in speaking of his appearance in court to answer a charge of larceny.

Near Matthews stood a sharp-eyed, white-haired man with flowing whiskers, trimmed in the well-known Heing style. This was Dr. E. J. Piper, of

OFFICER EDWARD MATTHEWS.

633 West Monroe street, owner of the valuable garment. Upon the desk lay the coat which had brought disgrace upon Officer Matthews, and all the officials of the station were grouped about to hear the evidence.

Although Matthews admitted the theft to Inspector Lewis Friday night he had an attorney in court who requested a continuance. Justice Scully wanted to hear a little about the case, however, and Dr. Piper was told to testify.

He began by identifying the coat which had been stolen from his flat one year ago.

"How do you identify it?" asked Matthews' attorney.

The doctor turned the pocket of the coat inside out and gazed earnestly at the chambray skin lining.

"Is there a magnifying glass in the station?" he asked.

Lieutenant Wheeler hastened into his room and obtained a four-inch glass, which he handed to the doctor.

The latter looked at the pocket through the lens and smiled faintly.

"Will you look at that, please?" he asked the doubting attorney.

The latter looked through the glass and laid the coat down quickly. There were the letters, faintly discernible in faded red ink; "Mrs. K. J. Piper."

That settled the identification. Matthews obtained a continuance until February 22 to obtain evidence in his own behalf, and said he would prove himself innocent. Maurice O'Connor signed his bail bond and the two hurriedly left the court room.

DOCTOR PIPER.

When questioned by a reporter regarding the charges Matthews said: "It will all come out in the wash. I don't care to talk about the case at present. I have nothing to say about the statements published."

Lieutenant Wheeler denies that Matthews has been suspected of robbing drunken prisoners in the patrol wagon.

"I never made such a statement," said he. Matthews was on the wagon but if there was such a suspicion against him I would not have kept him one day."

MANUFACTURES AND LIBERAL ARTS BUILDING—MIDWINTER INTERNATIONAL EXPOSITION.

MILTON DOES NOT FEAR WELLS

President Whitford Says the College Is Well Up In Standard.

In the Gazette of the 15th inst. appeared an item from Milwaukee which says: "Teachers in all parts of the state are interested to know what Superintendent Wells intends to do about continuing Milton College on the list of accredited institutions, whose diplomas are equivalent to unlimited state certificates of teachers. This implies that this question has been before the state superintendent for consideration for some length of time. In fact it has during the past year. It also stated in this item that objection has been raised as to continuance mentioned, on the claim that 'the curriculum of the college is not up to the required standard.' In the law of Wisconsin any incorporated college or university therein is entitled, as far as this standard is concerned, to have its diplomas become state certificates by being counter signed by the superintendent, when its courses of study are fully and fairly equivalent to the corresponding courses of the state university."

Milton college has three such courses: The Ancient Classical, the Scientific and the English, each embracing both preparatory and collegiate studies. Whether each of these courses is fully and fairly equivalent to the corresponding course of the university can be judged from the accompanying tables of the number of terms required to complete the same or equivalent studies in the English course adopted by both institutions. It should be noted, however, that the three terms in a year at the university embrace in all only thirty-seven weeks of five days each; but at Milton college thirty-nine weeks.

In the following table are given the studies for admission, or the preparatory studies to this college course, as classified with the number of terms assigned to each class:

	State Milton University, College.
Geography and Physical Science	6 1/2
Mathematics	6
English studies including Grammar	6 1/2
History and Civil Government	3 1/2
Ancient and Modern Languages	6
Whole number	28

The college studies and the number of terms assigned to them can best be arranged into a table on the basis of the years in this college course as follows:

	State Milton University, College.
Freshman year	10 1/2 - 10 1/2
Sophomore year	11 1/2 - 10 1/2
Junior and senior years	14
Whole number	39

The extra studies or term exercises occupy nearly the same amount of time in both institutions. The conclusion is inevitable that the "required standard" in Milton college for the English course is in full compliance with the law of the state. It is not difficult to show, as has already been indicated that the same fact exists in respect to the ancient, classical and scientific courses. As an example in comparing the latter course in both institutions, there will be found similar equivalences in its studies, the preparatory ones of which in Milton college are twenty-nine in number and the collegiate ones forty-three, including the extra studies or term exercises.

W. C. WHITFORD,
President of Milton College.

Wheelock's Ten Day Sale.

On another page of this issue will be found an announcement of Wheelock's Crockery store. It is a special ten day sale of lamps, and the prices quoted are ample proof that you cannot fail to attend. In connection with this, Messrs. Wheelock have arranged a bargain table on which can be found both useful and ornamental articles at one-fourth what they cost at wholesale. For instance, you can find on that counter, handsome bottles with cut glass stoppers that cost $1.75 each for 50 cents; luster band coffee cups and saucers 10 cents a pair; decorated saucers 2 cents each; French china bowls and covers with handles, worth $1.25, cost 75 cents each, for 50 cents each; decorated china spoon holders 5 cents each.

PATROL BUSY SATURDAY NIGHT.

Three Runs in One Day Made Fire Police Earn Their Salary.

The fire patrol ambulance was called out twice on Saturday. Jacob Ehringer, of Hanover, fell on the icy Main street sidewalk and broke his leg in two places. After being cared for in Dr. Palmer's office he was given temporary quarters in the city hospital. At ten o'clock the ambulance was again taken to the Ferris ice house, where a force of men were at work putting ice in the large building. William J. Hilt, employed on the runway, lost his footing and fell twenty or twenty-five feet, breaking his nose, fracturing his arm and receiving internal injuries. He was taken to his home on West Milwaukee street, where Dr. C. L. Clark attended him. This made the third run for the patrol for the day and the sixth for the week.

KNIGHTS MARK THEIR ANNIVERSARY

Castle Hall To Be Made a Place of Merriment This Evening.

The thirtieth anniversary of the Knights of Pythias will be celebrated at Castle Hall this evening. It is proposed to have an informal, quiet home party, for knights and their ladies only. The chancellor Theo. W. Goldin, will give a short history of the Knights of Pythias. The supreme chancellor, Ogden H. Fethers, will tell what the Knights have done and are doing. Mrs. F. W. Christman will give a recitation, while Past Chancellor Stanley B. Smith will tell the ladies what Oriental Lodge has done for them. From 9:30 to 12 there will be dancing in the main hall, and cards and conversation in the ante-room. E. B. Heimstreet, B. H. Baldwin and George R. Davis compose the arrangement committee. All visiting Knights invited.

HODSON MILL TO RUN BY MAY 1

The Flume Is Finished and the Foundations Are Completed.

The old "Excelsior Mill," owned by C. W. Hodson has been razed and the wreckage has been nearly all cleared away. Preparation is now going on for the new mill which is to occupy the old site. The flume is in and Contractor Peters has finished the massive stone foundation. By May 1 the mill is expected to be running. Mr. Hodson went to Buffalo today to inspect machinery.

PEA jackets, double breasted coats and vests, fast colors, blue chinchilla at Rosenfeld's for $4.50, will cost you $10 any other place in the city.

As said by the Gazette last night doctors are inclined to think the case of the Schultz boy on Park street is nothing worse than "rash." The upper portion of the house has been closed merely as a precaution.

REV. WM. F. BROWN, former pastor of the First Presbyterian church says: "Optician W. F. Hayes fitted myself and wife with 'helps to read.' His lenses have proven helpful and satisfactory." February 15th, 1894. William F. Brown, 1218 Chapin street, Beloit, Wis.

THIS, THAT, AND THE OTHER.

Montana gold miners are flocking to African gold mines.

Spain has fewer daily papers than any other country in Europe.

Some mahogany trees in Honduras are worth from $5,500 to $6,000 each.

It is estimated that every thousand years the human race grows an inch taller.

The early English and French kings took "moneys" with them on their travels, who coined money as it was needed.

At the end of the eighteenth century the annual average mortality was estimated at 50 per 1,000, and in 1892 it had dropped to 19.1 per 1,000.

The alcedo citri, a minute white fly, is reported to prevail to an alarming extent in many sections of Florida, and is proving a dangerous pest to orange trees.

The use of hypodermic injections of sheep's brains looks like a mutton-head notion, but they are recommended by an eminent bacteriologist as a cure for epilepsy.

What is believed to be the oldest piece of metal money ever made is at the mint in Philadelphia. It was minted in Aegina about 700 B. C. The design is in high relief, representing a tortoise crawling along the face of the coin.

HIGH SCHOOL GETS A STRONG TEACHER.

COMMERCIAL COURSE PUT IN GOOD HANDS.

Prof. E. T. Taylor, a Graduate of Ann Arbor University, and Instructor at the Chicago University Comes Here After Practical Experience in the Banking Business.

Professor E. T. Taylor, Ph.B., of Ann Arbor, Michigan, has been engaged and is now in charge of the commercial department of the Janesville High school. Professor Taylor comes to Janesville with the highest testimonials and recommendations as a commercial instructor. He is a graduate of the University of Michigan, from which institution he received the degree of bachelor of philosophy; he was employed for some time as instructor in the Chicago University, and later was actively engaged in the banking business in Denver, Colorado. Superintendent Mayne says he has now secured the right man for the right place, and that the commercial course of the High school will be made one of the most popular courses of the school.

GOSSIP GOING AROUND.

Mrs. Gladstone owns property at Niagara Falls, Canada. She owns three acres of land worth about $1,000 an acre.

The Vanderbilt family hold $47,050,000 of United States four per cent bonds. These bonds are registered at the treasury department and the annual interest paid by the government is $1,822,000.

Two of the young women students in the Michigan university walk two and one-half miles a day, rain or shine, from their homes in time to attend their classes, and are always well prepared in their lessons.

United States Senator Perkins of California has been visiting his native town of Kennebunkport, Maine. He was 12 years old when he left his home suddenly, going upon a long sea voyage as cabin boy and later before the mast.

Mr. Hewins, a citizen of Boston, has temporarily in his possession one of the gloves worn by Queen Elizabeth at her coronation. It is richly embroidered in gold, with the orb, crown and ostrich plumes, the insignia of English royalty, and was evidently made to fit a hand of more than ordinary size.

James Wormley, son of the well-known Washington hotelkeeper, while removing some personal effects which his father had put away in a closet many years ago, came across a curious relic. It was a coffeewood cane, highly polished and with a gold head. Engraved upon the head was the inscription: "Hon. Charles Sumner, from a citizen of Liberia."

Alexander R. Shepherd, once "Boss Shepherd" of Washington and ex-cerated as the lowest type of politician, is now a rich mine owner in Mexico. He is a man of great influence in Chihuahua. His hacienda in the mountains is a veritable fort, to protect the property from revolutionists and bandits of the country. Within are the homes of Shepherd and his employees and the ore crushing mills.

The recent sale of the West Chester, Pa., Village Record, a historic little newspaper established fully seventy-five years ago, is not so much an item of interest as the fact that Bayard Taylor was once the Record's office boy and afterward a compositor in its printing office. Several other men of subsequent consequence, among them Chief Justice Paxson of Pennsylvania, set type in the little composing-room of the Record establishment.

Once when Senator Vance was making a stump speech in his state of North Carolina, he was interrupted by one of the mountaineers who had brought to the meeting a strong taste to study finance. "Tell us about national banks!" he demanded, breaking in on one of the senator's flights. "Tell you about national banks?" repeated Vance. Well, all I know about national banks, my friend, is that it takes two names better than mine to get any money out of one of them.

ETCHINGS AND ECHOES.

Two five-dollar notes issued by the Southern National bank of New York and held by Henry Miller bear identical numbers, and the wonderment of the government and bank officials is great thereat.

M. Boutan, a French scientist, who is a practiced diver, has succeeded in taking a photograph of his surroundings when standing on a bed of the Mediterranean at Banyuls-sur-Mer, near the Spanish border.

Two men have been employed and armed with rifles to patrol the levee above and below Shreveport, La., and kill all hogs found wandering about the neighborhood. Their rooting has in the past loosened the earth and caused damaging breaks in the levees.

The official record of the New York state senate says that it is composed of fourteen lawyers, four merchants, three real estate dealers, a florist, a contractor, a doctor, a baker, a builder, a salesman, a clerk, an accountant, an editor and one gentleman—Senator Donaldson of Saratoga county.

Aubrey castle, which the duke of Norfolk has purchased, is one of the most ancient bits of architecture in the South of England. The massive block, with four square towers at each corner, and two of circular shape on either side of the gateway, dates from the middle of the fourteenth century.

A DAILY BIT OF FUN

"Open All Night."

—Puck.

Nothing to Lose.

Hall—It's all right to talk about those rich girls who marry foreign noblemen. The noblemen are the ones who take all the chances.

Ball—How is that?

Hall—Why the girl takes her husband for better or worse, richer or poorer. Nine times out of ten, she knows he can't be any poorer or any worse. What has she to lose?—Life.

Something to Show on a Rainy Day.

"Can you let me have some money this morning, John?" asked Mrs. Sprigs at the breakfast table.

"Why, I gave you $10 the other day and told you to fix things so you would have something to show on a rainy day. What did you do with it?"

"I bought three pairs of silk stockings, so as—" But he was gone.

Infinitesimal Webs.

Mexico, the land of Montezuma, prickly pears, sand, volcanoes, etc., has many subtropical wonders, both in vegetable and animal life. Among these latter is a species of spider so minute that its legs cannot be seen without a glass. This little araneida weaves a web so wonderfully minute that it takes 400 of them to equal a common hair in magnitude.

It Dropped.

The wholesale price of coal has fallen. We will make it $8.00 per ton delivered. Janesville Coal Co., J. H. GA ELEY, manager.

A woman mail carrier, Rosa Shelley, carries the mail regularly between Dexter and Goshen, an eighteen mile stretch of lonesome road, in Lane county, Oregon. Early or late, snow or shine, she makes the trip, and no stress of weather or fear of road agents has yet interfered with her performance of her duty.

An electric freight railroad started business a few days ago in Knox county, Maine. The Rockland, Thomaston and Camden Electric railroad, originally built for passenger traffic, and so operated for some little time, has added a freight and express business, and will run a way-bill freight over its road hereafter.

According to an advertisement contained in the Danish Government Gazette, published in Copenhagen, two big volcanoes are for sale. They are situated in Iceland and are the principal attractions of the island. The owner asks for them the sum of $400 apiece—not an excessive charge for any one who may have use for them.

One of the sights of China is the antique bridge of Suen-tchen-fow, 2,500 feet long and twenty feet wide. It has on each side fifty-two piers, upon which huge stones are laid, some of them twenty feet long. Many thousands of tons of stone were used in the erection of this wonderful bridge, which is regarded by engineers as indicating constructive talent as wonderful as that which raised the Egyptian pyramids.

Good Thing To Keep at Hand.
From the Troy, (Kansas) Chief.

Some years ago we were very much subject to severe spells of cholera morbus; and now when we feel any of the symptoms that usually precede that ailment, such as sickness at the stomach, diarrhoea, etc., we become scared. We have found Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy the very thing to straighten one out in such cases, and always keep it about. We are not writing this for a pay testimonial, but to let our readers know what is a good thing to keep handy in the house. For sale by Stearns & Baker, druggists.

A Contractor's Advice.

Dullam's German Medicine Co.—Gentlemen I take great pleasure in testifying in behalf of Dullam's German Blood, Liver, Stomach and Kidney Cure. I can safely say that I never took such medicine as that to cleanse the stomach and kidneys. I was suffering for years with biliousness, indigestion and loss of appetite and sleep. One bottle did for me more good than six months' other treatment, and I feel it my duty to testify in its behalf, so others may try it and get cured.

REV. FATHER CLARKE, Sec'y to the Rt. Rev. Bishop of Columbus, Ohio, writes:
GENTLEMEN:—I cannot say enough for your Powder. It has cured me of an aggravated attack of catarrh when nothing else could help me. Am delighted with it. All my friends to whom I administered samples are quite enthusiastic over it. The good sisters seek most encouragingly of their use in the Hospital under their care. I will do anything to speak a good word for the remedy to help others who are suffering.
M. E. FENIMAN, Custodian U. S. Appraiser's Store, Chicago, writes:
GENTLEMEN:—Being almost entirely deaf for a number of years past and getting no relief from many so-called cures which I tried, was induced by a friend to try Dr. Birney's Catarrh Powder for my deafness. Have recovered my hearing entirely, so that I can now hear a watch tick plainly, it being held 15 inches from my ear. I look upon it as a positive cure for deafness and have recommended its use to many of my friends and can say I have never heard of a case where it has failed to relieve.

A LESSON FROM THE PAST.

Sixty years ago Daniel Webster said:

Mr. President, in the midst of ample means of national and individual happiness, we have unexpectedly fallen into severe distress. Our course has been suddenly arrested. The general pulse of life is still, and the activity and industry of the country feel a pause. A vast extended and beneficent commerce is checked, manufactures suspended, and the labor of agriculture is retarded with the loss of their usual reward. Our resources are, nevertheless, at the same time abundant, and all external circumstances highly favorable and advantageous, such as fairly promised us not only a continuance of that degree of prosperity which we have actually enjoyed, but its rapid advancement, also, to still higher stages. The condition of the country is indeed singular. It is like that of a strong man chained. In full health, with strength unabated, and all its faculties unimpaired, it is yet capable of performing its accustomed action. Fetters and manacles are on all its limbs.

This describes the situation that now exists in this country, as if the words had been spoken only yesterday; and is practically the same now that it was then. Webster simply recounted the effects of a year's operation of the tariff law of 1833, by which all duties were to be reduced within ten years to a horizontal rate of 20 per cent. ad valorem. The same statement covers the condition in which the country now has been placed by the mere apprehension of a return to that form of tariff. The experience of sixty years ago is being duplicated; like causes are producing like effects. It is easy to see that the logic of free trade is the logic of disaster now as it was then, and that nothing has happened since that time to make protection a thing to be safely and profitably dispensed with.

WILL VOTE RIGHT HEREAFTER.

We are told the laboring man proposes to vote for republican candidates for city offices this spring to improve his condition. The way his condition has been improved during the past year under a republican city government ought to be very encouraging. It would be something of a joke on the laboring man however if he should happen to vote for improvement and be taxed out of sight here afterwards.—Recorder.

The Recorder has been told the truth, but draws very queer conclusions from the truth. Can it tell the laboring men of the city wherein the party it represents has benefited wage-earners? Where republicans rule prosperity reigns and laborers are happy; where democracy rules there is idleness, poverty and want. When republicans rule the mills and factories and workshops teem with industry, and there is good cheer on all sides; where democracy rules the mills and factories and workshops are at a stand-still, and cold and starvation stalk through the land. Workingmen have learned these facts by bitter experience, and it is not hard to tell why they will vote the republican ticket hereafter.

Wherever an election is held these days the democratic ticket is beaten. The people may be voting for road commissioner or pound-master merely, but they are bound to pay their respects to the party that has shut down factories and closed mills.

Whatever the merits of the judicial contest, The Gazette has no sympathy with those who oppose Judge Bennett for his course in the Ashton case. Personal prejudice should be lost sight of in determining matters of such importance.

One thing is admitted by everybody, that prosperity would return with magical rapidity if the democrat would pledge themselves to let the tariff alone until after the next presidential election.

With a majority of ninety the dem-o-crats have great difficulty in securing a quorum in the House of Representatives. If the house were unanimously democratic it would do no business at all.

Compare Cleveland's cabinet with those that preceded it. Not a single member is equal to the man he followed or to the man who held the place during Cleveland's first term.

NELSON BROTHERS LEASE A BARN

Conrad Brothers Warehouse Will Hold No More Calf.

Nelson Brothers has secured a five years lease of the three east stores in Conrad row on Court street and the large brick warehouse in the rear, which is said to be refitted and furnished for use as a livery stable. The Nelsons will take possession April 1. The east store will be used as an office, the second as a driveway to the barn and the third as an undertaking establishment.

"We will move our office to the large store at the West end of the row," said C. B. Conrad this morning. "We do not anticipate there will be much money in tobacco for two or three years to come, and what we have we can store outside."

NEWS FROM LOCAL CHURCHES

Special Meeting Tuesday Night.

There will be a special evangelistic service Tuesday night, at the Baptist church. The public is cordially invited.

Funeral of Mrs. Electa P. Bates.

All that was mortal of the late Mrs. Electa P. Bates was laid to rest in Oak Hill cemetery Sunday afternoon. The funeral services were held from the residence of her daughter, Mrs. R. Brand, 163 Linn street, at half-past two o'clock. Rev. Dr. M. G. Hodge, pastor of the Baptist church officiated, and there was a large attendance of friends. A quartette, consisting of Mrs. C. B. Conrad, Miss Francis Edwards, C. F. Yates and William Bladen rendered the song service in an exceptionally feeling manner, the selections being "Asleep in Jesus," "Go Bury Thy Sorrow" and "Abide with Me." Numerous floral tributes were presented by family friends.

In the course of his remarks Dr. Hodge referred to the beautiful christian character of the deceased and of her faith in the promises of a glorious life to come. The pall bearers were A. F. Hall, N. Dearborn, E. J. Owen and Washington Kell.

Fake Sales.

A great deal has been written and said about "fake sales" since we commenced our great money raising sale. If any one thinks we are not doing as we advertise, let them come in and see. One of our best business men said to-day to another business man: "You can call Rosenfeld's sale a 'fake sale' if you desire, but I am here to tell you it is a genuine money raising sale. I think the fellow is hard up and must have money. I am now wearing a suit of clothes that I bought of him for $12.50 which I consider just as good, and fits me just as well as I have been in the habit of paying a merchant tailor $30 to $40 for. I propose to get one of those Irish frieze ulsters for $10.00 before the day is over. They are the best bargains in the city." We can give the name of these men, and those who desire to know can find out by calling at the store.

ROSENFELD.

Do You See This Bird?

This rooster will appear three times and then crow. Watch this space for developments. A great surprise waits you.

A Whimsical Chap.

Once tried to quote Bulwer (was it Bulwer?) and said, "Great aches from little toe corns grow," and altho' he didn't exactly quote he got there.
got there as it were, with both feet, at least with a part of both.

"To be or not to be," said Shakespeare, (or Bacon?) and he toe, may not be far off. Foot it over hill and dale, 'til you are weary and footsore, and you cannot find such bargains as we offer in building sites, Homesites, for on these and the prices of the same and terms, too, we always did "ace the mark." For some reason we are this spring getting onto the goods, the prices and the terms with both feet. And so, with Hamlet we soliloquize: "The wonder grows". why people are not "up in arms" when the prices we quote are looked into. You can get a home, if you wish, so long as we are in the business; hard times don't count. If you are not earning so much money as you did last year, we will meet you; it don't matter.

Homesites and Homes are our fad; to help people get 'em is what we are on earth for, this time.

The main secret, we suppose, why we always get the major part of the real estate trade going, is that we own a large part of the property that we offer. Another part of the secret is, we deal every time so that our customer sends to us his or her friend when they want to deal.

Our beginnings here were not large, but so true it is that "Great oaks from little acorns grow," that the "birds of the air" have their homes,—build their nests,—in the result of our grain of mustard seed.
Come over and roost with us. Yours very truly,

GEO. L. & SARAH H. CARRINGTON.

ASHTON IS DEAD OF SMALL POX.

HIS DISEASE ASSUMED A MOST MALIGNANT FORM.

Sunday Night the End Came and After Sixteen Hours Delay the Body Was Buried—Effort to Move It To This City Blocked By the State Health Law.

A court higher than any earthly tribunal has tried Matthew R. Ashton.

He is dead.
Word came to Sheriff Bear this morning in the form of this telegram:
MADISON, Feb. 19, 1894.—J. L. BEAR.—Ashton is dead. What shall we do? Wire at once.

H. P. MEEHAN, Jailor.
Sheriff Bear's answer was:
JANESVILLE, Feb. 19, 1894.—H. P. MEEHAN:—
I have notified the warden, and will let you know as soon as possible. J. L. BEAR.

Small pox was the judge who tried the final issue and Dr. Phillip Fox's services had no effect upon the verdict.

The telegram was a surprise and a shock to Janesville people. Saturday the authorities had been notified that Ashton was better; that the case was and keep up the farm and pay the expenses.

"Do you pay any rent to Mr. Stone?"

"No sir."

"Do you turn over any of the proceeds to Mr. Stone?"

"Well, I have paid part of the taxes some years and he paid the balance."

SENSATIONAL MURDER AND TRIAL.
The Case Was One of Surprises From the Start.

Dime novels seldom furnish a case like the one now ended. Some years ago Ashton was summoned from Canada by his rich old uncle, Daniel Stone, whose blindness made him incapable of managing the largest farm in southern Wisconsin. From the start Ashton was believed by the old man and time made the friendship closer. Then trouble came. Daniel was assassinated in the dark; a detective was hired, who decided, he says, that Ashton clubbed him, and Ashton set to work to cause the old man to lay it to his wife. Saturday night the detective told Mrs. Stone his business and Sunday morning Ashton was to be charged with the crime by the detective. Sunday morning Mrs. Stone disappeared and her crushed and mutilated body was found in the cistern. Ashton was indicted by a grand jury for the murder.

Then came the trial. There never was a more sensational one held in Wisconsin. Able counsel fought the case with all the arts and skill known to the legal profession. Both sides were confident that they would be successful but the jury found the defendant guilty on the first ballot. A motion for a new trial was overruled by Judge Bennett and Ashton was sent to Madison until the supreme court could open on the case. Before he was taken to Madison, he had been quartered in the Jefferson jail and it was there that he contracted the fatal disease.

THE DISEASE WAS RELENTLESS.
Skill and Care Could Not Conquer the Dread Malady.

Dr. Phil Fox, a physician famed for his skill; one of the physicians who testified for the defense, and a personal friend of Ashton attended him and his care was of the best. Ashton was isolated from the other prisoners and had a comfortable cell in the upper story of the new jail. The building had every convenience and it is doubtful if more comfortable quarters could be found for him. The new building is heated by steam and is strictly sanitary. Probably, in spite of all that was done, Ashton caught cold, which in small pox cases is generally fatal. Sheriff Brown had kept Sheriff Bear posted on how the sufferer was fared and in addition Dr. Phil Fox had written to Attorney Hyzer. The case was not supposed to be malignant and there was little fear for his recovery, but it was not to be.

DR. D. H. WILLIAMS GETS AN OFFICE
Former Janesville Colored Man Honored
By Secretary Hoke Smith.

Dr. Daniel H. Williams, formerly of this city, but now credited with being the leading colored man of Chicago, has been appointed surgeon-in-chief of the Freedman's hospital in Washington. The appointment was made by the secretary of the interior. Dr.
Williams is a graduate of the Chicago Medical College and has served in the South Side Dispensary, the Chicago Hospital and the Chicago Orphan Asylum. He is a member of the Chicago Medical Society and of the Illinois board of health. He called upon the secretary of the interior Saturday and will assume active charge of the hospital early next month.

WILL MARCH ST. PATRICK'S DAY.
Catholic Societies Decide to Unite in a Parade on March 17th.

A joint committee of the two divisions of the Ancient Order of Hibernians held a meeting Sunday afternoon to arrange for St. Patrick's day entertainment. William M. Cunningham was elected chairman; T. B. Leahy, secretary, and John Conley, treasurer. The committee decided to have a parade on March 17th, inviting all the societies to participate. In the evening a musical and literary entertainment will be given in Columbia hall. While this program will be made up mostly of home talent, the committee expect to secure a number of leaders from abroad.

J. M. Bostwick On The Sale
The Chicago Dry Goods Reporter and Wholesale Price List of Saturday, February 17, has the following to say in its report of the James H. Walker auction sale of dry goods: "J. M.
Bostwick, of Bostwick & Sons, Janesville, Wis., was another man who bought something every day of the sale. 'This is a great sale' said he,
'great for Chicago and great for the country. I have been greatly interested in the sale and am glad that it has been a success. It means a great deal for Janesville and the West.'

JOB FOR T. T. CROFT AT WASHINGTON.

JANESVILLE MAN CHIEF OF A TREASURY DIVISION.

He Has Good Backing and His Many Janesville Friends Will Be Glad To Hear That He Has Been Recognized—The Appointment to Be Made Soon.

Capt. T. T. Croft is to be appointed chief of a division in the treasury department. Word comes from Washington in the shape of a dispatch that says: "Wisconsin will be given another appointment in the treasury department within a few days—that of a chief of division. The man who is

CAPT. T. T. CROFT.

to get it is understood to be Thomas T. Croft of Janesville, who came here soon after Cleveland's inaugural expecting to secure something through Senator Vilas, and now it seems he is about to be recognized. Croft has had the backing of several of the most influential Wisconsin democrats in Washington.

"Tom" Croft has about as many friends as anybody in town and all will be glad to see that he has been recognized. He undoubtedly did as effective work for his party as any man in Janesville.

LINCOLN HIS FAVORITE THEME.

Colonel Ingersoll Will Be at His Best Tomorrow Night.

Janesville is to be congratulated on Colonel Ingersoll's choice of a subject for his lecture tomorrow night. Ingersoll is better advised about the traits of Abraham Lincoln than any living human being. He was thrown in contact, socially, politically and professionally with Mr. Lincoln both prior and subsequent to his accession to the presidency, and was thoroughly familiar with Mr. Lincoln's views on affairs of state and matters of public policy. Those that hear him will have a better idea of the character and life of that great man than they can get by the perusal of all the historical of him that are now extant.

THE Chicago Dry Goods Reporter in publishing the list of buyers who attended the Walker dry goods sale last week, mentions Bostwick & Sons, Janesville, as being very heavy buyers.

We have not attempted to give a complete list of bargains during our sale—too many. The ones mentioned will serve their purpose; will give the people a fair idea of what we are going to do. J. M. Bostwick &

THE Washington supper to be given by the ladies of the Court Street Methodist church, on Wednesday afternoon from 5:30 to 7 o'clock, promises to be no ordinary affair.

Escalloped oysters, chicken, cranberry jelly, cakes, etc., are found in the bill of fare, all for twenty-five cents.

THE Valentine social and dance was enjoyed by a large crowd at Post hall, and the ladies of the W. R. C. wish to thank all who so kindly assisted, and especially Mr. Baldwin, for disposing of the valentines. Twelve o'clock came all too soon for the merry crowd.

GIRLS IN THE RIVER AND NEAR DEATH.

HAIR-BREADTH ESCAPE FROM A DOUBLE DROWNING.

Theresa Hofert and Martha Benwitz Break Through the Ice Near Monterey and Are in the Water Half An Hour—Saved by John Koerner and Charles Schumacker.

For twenty minutes Miss Theresa Hofert and Miss Martha Benwitz struggled for their lives in the river Sunday afternoon. The young ladies were skating near the "big rock" at Monterey. They had not been long at the sport when both went into an air hole where the water was fifteen feet deep.
Notwithstanding their cries no one came to their rescue.

For nearly half an hour they cried and struggled to save themselves, and when about exhausted and chilled almost to numbness, Charles Schumacker and John Koerner chanced to pass.
Schumacker, who is clerk in Prentice & Evenson's, took off his overcoat and handing one end to his companion, held on to the other, and with this lifeline he approached the drowning girls.
He succeeded in rescuing Miss Hofert.
John Koerner Nearly Drowned.

Young Koerner ventured out to rescue Miss Benwitz, but almost lost his own life. The ice broke and let him down, and he caught under the ice as he came up. Schumacker worked heroically. Seeing that two lives were in danger he ran out over the cracking ice, pulled out Miss Benwitz and then rushed back to the edge and caught Koerner. After hard work he got him safe on shore.

The girls were nearly dead with cold. Chauncey Mitmore chanced to pass near by with a team. With his robes and horse blankets the ladies were wrapped and hurried to their homes. Young Koerner, who clerks for E. B. Heimstreet, was taken to the home of his father, Rev.
J. C. Koerner, pastor of St. Paul's Lutheran church. All of the party have recovered from their chill today and no serious results are feared.

Special Sale Boys' Shirt Waists This Week
Only.

It is a trifle early to advertise boy's shirt waists, but having just received a lot of them we decided to give you the benefit of our low prices during this week. Tomorrow morning we will put on sale—

Two hundred boys' shirt waists, Wilson Bros' make, French penangs and percales, handsomely made up, with starched collars and cuffs, soft front, pleated, large round out collar, always cost you $1.00 and $1.25 cents each.
This week you can have them for seventy-five cents each.

Come early, as they will not last long at such prices—the handsomest shirt waists ever offered in the city.
Seeing is believing. While we are out with our new line of shirt waists, we will add one or two more articles this week to make this sale a little more interesting.

We have just received our new line of spring neckwear, it is very handsome, and very cheap. If you want a new tie come in this week during our special sale. Having received our new neckwear we had to have a place to display it in our show cases, consequently we had to remove the ties on hand. We have a lot of them and have thrown them into a pile and will close the lot out at twenty-five cents each. You will find in the lot all odds and ends in our neckwear, running in price from fifty cents to one dollar each, consisting of tecks, four-in-hand and puffs, all at twenty-five cents each.

The above goods will be displayed in our front show window. Come early as the sale will end Saturday night. T. J. ZIEGLER, Corner Milwaukee and Main.

NORTH BLUFF STREET

...is now giving lessons again in...

(Copyright, 1893, by J. B. Lippincott & Co., and published by special arrangement.)

The sunshine of an exquisite April morning was shimmering over the Louisiana lowlands as Battery "X" was "hitching in" and Mrs. Cram's pretty pony-phæton came flashing through the garrison gate and reined up in front of the guns. A proud and happy woman was Mrs. Cram, and daintily she gathered the spotless, cream-colored reins and slanted her long English driving-whip at the exact angle prescribed by the vogue of the day. By her side, reclining luxuriously on his pillows, was Sam Waring, now senior first lieutenant of the battery, taking his first airing since his strange illness. Pallid and thin though he was, that young gentleman was evidently capable of appreciating to the fullest extent the devoted attentions of which he had been the object ever since his return. Stanch friend and fervent champion of her husband's most distinguished officer at any time, Mrs. Cram had thrown herself into his cause with a zeal that challenged the admiration even of the men whom she mercilessly snubbed because they had accepted the general verdict that Lascelles had died by

"WHY, WHAT IS IT, WARING?"

Waring's hand. Had they met in the duello as practiced in the south in those days, sword to sword, or armed with pistol at twelve paces, she would have shuddered, but maintained that as a soldier and gentleman Waring could not have refused his opponent's challenge, inexcusable though such challenge might have been. But that he could have stooped to vulgar, unregulated frolics, without seconds or the formality of the cartel, first with fists and those women's weapons, as though he were some low dago or Sicilian—why, that was simply and utterly incredible. None the less she was relieved and rejoiced, as were all Waring's friends, when the full support of poor Doyle's dying confession was noised abroad. Even those who were skeptical were now silenced. For four days her comfort and relief had been inexpressible; and then came the hour when, with woe and trouble in his face, her husband returned to her from Waring's bedside with the incomprehensible tidings that he had utterly repudiated Doyle's confession—had, indeed, said that which could probably only serve to renew the suspicion of his own guilt, or else justify the theory that he was demoted.

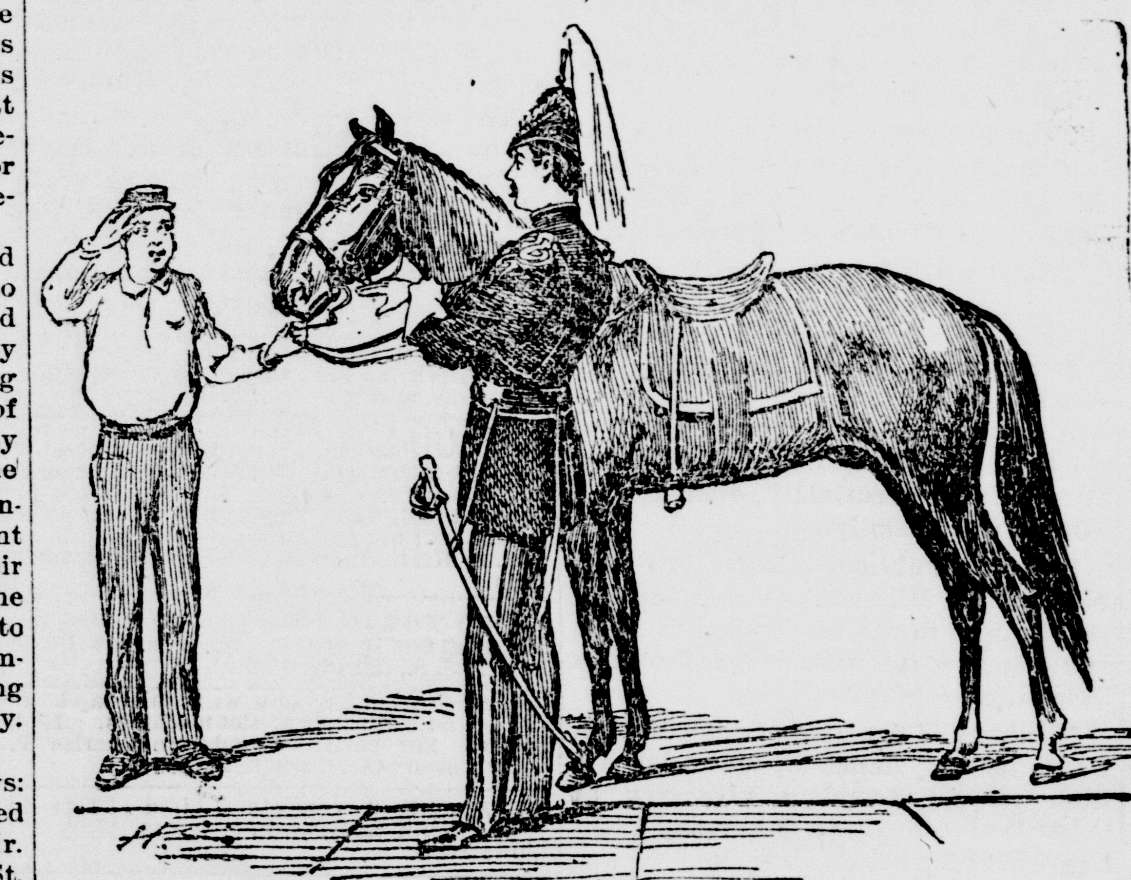

Though Cram and the doctor warned Waring not to talk, talk he would, to Pierce, to Ferry, to Ananias; and though these three were pledged by Cram to reveal to no one what Waring said, it plunged them in an agony of doubt and misgiving. Day after day had the patient told and retold the story, and never could cross-questioning shake him in the least. Cram sent for Reynolds and took him into their confidence, and Reynolds heard the story and added his questions, but to no effect. From first to last he remembered every incident up to his parting with Lascelles at his own gateway. After that—nothing.

His story, in brief, was as follows: He was both surprised and concerned while smoking and chatting with Mr. Allerton in the rotunda of the St. Charles to see Lascelles, with a friend, evidently watching an opportunity of speaking with him. He had noticed about a week previous a marked difference in the old Frenchman's manner, and three days before the tragedy, when calling on his way from town to see madame and Nin Nin, was informed that they were not at home, and monsieur himself was the informant; nor did he, as heretofore, invite Waring to enter. Sam was a fellow who detested misunderstanding. Courteously, but positively, he demanded explanation. Lascelles shrugged his shoulders, but gave it. He had heard too much of monsieur's attentions to madame, his wife, and desired their immediate discontinuance. He must request monsieur's assurance that he would not again visit Beau Rivage, or else the reparation due a man of honor, etc. "Whereupon," said Waring, "I didn't propose to be outdone in civility, and therefore replied, in the best French I could command: 'Permet me to tender monsieur—both. Monsieur's friends will find me at the barracks.'"

"All the same," said Waring, "when I found madame and Nin Nin stuck in the mud I did what I considered the proper thing, and drove them, coram publico, to 'bonne maman's,' never letting them see, of course, that there was any row on tap, and so when I saw the old fellow with a keen-looking party alongside I felt sure it meant mischief. I was utterly surprised, therefore, when Lascelles came up with hat off and hand extended, bowing low, praying pardon for the intrusion, but saying he could not defer another instant the desire to express his gratitude the most profound for my extreme courtesy to madame and his beloved child. He had heard the whole story, and, to my confusion, insisted on going over all the details before Allerton, even to my heroism, as he called it, in knocking down that big bully of a cabman. I was confused, yet couldn't shake him off. He was persistent. He was abject. He begged to meet my friend, to present his, to open champagne and drink eternal friendship. He would change the name of his chateau—the rotten old rookery—from Beau Rivage to Belle Alliance. He would make this day a fête in the calendar of the Lascelles family. And then it began to dawn on me that he had been drinking champagne before somehow and drove on down the levee, leaving Doyle in the hands of that Amazon of a wife of his and a couple of doughboys who happened to be around there. Now Lascelles was all hilarity, singing, joking, confidential. Nothing would do but we must stop and call on a lovely woman, a belle amie. He could rely on our discretion, he said, laying his finger on his nose, and looking sly and coquettish, for all the world like some old roué of a Frenchman. He must stop and see her and take her some wine. "Indeed," he said, mysteriously, "it is rendezvous." Well, I was their guest; I had no money. What could I do? It was then after eleven, I should judge. M. Philippe, or whatever his name was, gave orders to the driver. We pulled up, and then, to my surprise, I found we were at Doyle's. That ended it. I told them they must excuse me. They protested, but of course I couldn't go in there. So they took a couple of bottles apiece and went in the gate and I settled myself for a nap and got it. I don't know how long I slept, but I was aroused by the devil's own tumult. A shot had been fired. Men and women both were screaming and swearing. Some one suddenly burst into the cab beside me, really pushed from behind, and then away we went through the mud and rain; and the lightning was flashing now, and presently I could recognize Lascelles, raging. "Infame! 'Coquin! 'Assassin!" were the mildest terms he was vollying at somebody, and then, recognizing me, he burst into manly tears, swore I was his only friend. He had been insulted, abused, denied reparation. Was he hurt? I inquired, and instinctively felt for my knife. It was still there where I'd hid it in the inside pocket of my overcoat. No hurt; not a blow. Did I suppose that he, a Frenchman, would pardon that or leave the spot until satisfaction had been exacted? Then I begged him to be calm and listen to me for a moment. I told him my plight—that I had given my word to be at the barracks that evening; that I had no money left, but I could go no further. Instantly he tion. He hardly spoke English at all. Then Lascelles insisted on a stop at the Pelican, and on bumpers of champagne, and there, as luck would have it, was Doyle—drunk, as usual, and determined to join the party; and, though I endeavored to put him aside, Lascelles would not have it. He insisted on being presented to the comrade of his gallant friend, and in the private room where we went he overwhelmed Doyle with details of our grand reconciliation and with bumper after bumper of Krug. This enabled me to fight shy of the wine, but in ten minutes Doyle was fighting drunk, Lascelles tipsy. The driver came in for his pay, saying he would go no further. They had a row. Lascelles wouldn't pay; called him an Irish thief and all that. I slipped my last V into the driver's hand and got him out, somehow. M. Philippe, or whatever his name was, said he would go out—he'd get a cab in the neighborhood; and the next thing I knew Lascelles and Doyle were in a fury of a row. Lascelles said all the Irish were knaves, and blackguards and swindlers, and Doyle stumbled around after him. Out came a pisture as to the identity of the stranger, Sam said no. The name sounded like "Philippe," but he couldn't be sure. But when told that there were rumors to the effect that Lascelles' younger brother had been seen with him twice or thrice of late, and that he had been in exile because, if anything, of a hopeless passion for madame his sister-in-law, and that his name was Philippe, Waring looked dazed. Then a sudden light, as of newer, fresher memory, flashed up in his eyes. He seemed about to speak, but as suddenly controlled himself and turned his face to the wall. From that time on he was determinedly dumb about the stranger. What roused him to lively interest and conjecture, however, was Cram's query as to whether he had not recognized in the cabman called in by the stranger the very one whom he had "knocked endwise" and who had tried to shoot him that morning. "No," said Waring, "the man did not speak at all, that I noticed, and I did not once see his face, he was so bundled up against the storm." But if it was the same party, suggested he, it seemed hardly necessary to look any further in explanation of his own disappearance. Cabby had simply squared matters by knocking him senseless, helping himself to his watch and ring and turning out his pockets, then hammering him until frightened off, and then, to cover his tracks, setting him adrift in Anatole's boat.

"Perhaps cabby took a hand in the murder, too," suggested Sam, with eager interest. "You say he had disappeared—gone with his plunder. Now, who else could have taken my knife?" Then Reynolds had something to tell him; that the "lady" who wrote the anonymous letters, the belle amie whom Lascelles proposed to visit, the occupant of the upper floor of "the dove-cot," was none other than the blighted floweret who had appealed to him for aid and sympathy, for fifty dollars at first and later for more, the first year of his army service in the south, "for the sake of the old home." Then Waring grew even more excited and interested. "Pills" put a stop to further developments for a few days. He feared a relapse. But, in spite of "Pills," the developments, like other maladies, thrived. The little detective came down again. He was oddly inquisitive about that chanson a boire from "Fleur de The." Would Mr. Waring hum it for him? And Sam, now sitting up in his parlor, turned to his piano, and with long, slender, fragile-looking fingers rattled a lively prelude and then faintly quavered the rollicking words.

their turned to jump in the cab, but it wasn't there. Nothing was there. I jumped from the banquet into a berth aboard some steamer out at sea. They told me the first thing I asked for was Pierce's umbrella and Larkin's hat." And this was the story that Waring maintained from first to last. "Pills" ventured a query as to whether the amount of Krug and Chateau consumed might not have overthrown his mental equipoise. No, Sam declared, he drank very little. "The only Bacchanalian thing I did was to join in a jovial chorus from a new French opera which Lascelles' friend piped up and I had heard in the north: "Où, buvons, buvons encore! S'il est un vin qu'on adore De Paris à Macao, C'est le Chiquet, c'est le Chiquet." Asked if he had formed any conjecture as to the identity of the stranger, Sam said no. The name sounded like "Philippe," but he couldn't be sure. But when told that there were rumors to the effect that Lascelles' younger brother had been seen with him twice or thrice of late, and that he had been in exile because, if anything, of a hopeless passion for madame his sister-in-law, and that his name was Philippe, Waring looked dazed. "I OWE MY LIFE TO YOU."

A Wilton, N. J., Girl's Experience With a Noted Massachusetts Woman.

(SPECIAL TO OUR LADY READERS.)

Life is never more precious than in the heyday of youth, when every dream is a promise, and every thought an inspiration.

It is natural that Miss Gertrude Sicker, a young lady who lives at Wilton, N. J., is grateful for the great boon of life.

She suffered terribly with suppressed and painful menstruations. The doctors could only prevent her from having fits each month by dosing her with morphia.

At last, when she was completely prostrated, her father got her a bottle of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, which at once gave her relief.

That did what the doctors could not do. It cured her. She has no trouble now, and no dread of the coming month. "I owe my life to you," she writes to Mrs. Pinkham. "Oh, if other suffering women could try your valuable medicine they would bless you as I do."

The Human Electrical Forces!

How They Control the Organs of the Body.

The electrical force of the human body, as the nerve fluid may be termed, is an especially attractive department of science, as it exerts so marked an influence on the health of the organs of the body. Nerve force is produced by the brain and conveyed by means of the nerves to the various organs of the body, thus supplying the latter with the vitality necessary to insure a healthy state. The pneumogastric nerve, as shown here, may be said to be the most important of the entire nerve system, as it supplies the heart, lungs, stomach, bowels, etc., with the nerve force necessary to keep them active and healthy. As will be seen by the cut the long nerve descending from the base of the brain and terminating in the bowels is the pneumogastric, while the numerous little branches supply the heart, lungs and stomach with necessary vitality. When the brain becomes in any way disordered by irritability or exhaustion, the nerve force which it supplies is lessened, and the organs receiving the diminished supply are consequently weakened.

Physicians generally fail to recognize the importance of this fact, but treat the organs instead of the cause of the trouble. The noted specialist, Franklin Miles, M. D., has given the greater part of his life to the study of this subject, and the principal discoveries concerning it are due to his efforts. Dr. Miles' Restorative Nervine, the unrivaled brain and nerve food, is prepared on the principle that all nervous and many other ailments originate from disorders of the nervous centers. Its wonderful success in curing these disorders is testified to by thousands in every part of the land.

Restorative Nervine cures sleeplessness, nervous prostration, dizziness, hysteria, sexual debility, St. Vitus dance, epilepsy, etc. It is free from opiates or dangerous drugs. It is sold on a positive guarantee by all druggists, or sent direct by Dr. Miles Medical Co., Elkhart, Ind., on receipt of price, $1 per bottle, six bottles for $5, express prepaid.

Sold by all druggists.

LOW RATES TO COAST POINTS.

MASTICATION BY MACHINERY.

Metallic Jaws, Worked With a Spring, a Triumph of Surgery.

It looks as though a happy day of emancipation was approaching for that unfortunate class of individuals whose distinguishing mark is a visor-like hood and chin rest of leather. They are victims of sarcoma, a cancer which fastens its malignant roots to the jaw of the sufferer and yields only when removed, bone and all, by the surgeon's knife. What has rendered this operation particularly distressing was the hideous and lasting disfigurement which it entailed. Once the knife had cut away half the lower jaw, the unfortunate victim bade farewell to solid food for all time to come. Mastication was impossible, and the remaining half of the jaw could be held in place only by a gawsome harness hooding the head and bracing the cleft chin. Dr. Charles McBurney and Surgeon Dentist Westlake of New York, with a remarkably ingenious yet simple mechanical invention, have changed all this, and unfortunates minus half a lower jaw can now be readily rehabilitated, with the powers of mastication retained as well as with outward semblance of health and anatomical completeness. This was experimentally determined in a quiet way one year ago, when a Mrs. Kiddoo, of Savannah, Ga., submitted to an operation by Dr. McBurney. Half of the lower jaw was removed and Dr. Westlake's appliance was substituted. It was a remarkably successful experiment, and without disfiguring hood or externally applied support of any kind Mrs. Kiddoo has, says the New York Herald, been living and eating as though nature's equipment had not been curtailed in the least degree.

The appliance destined to save sufferers from the disfiguring hood and its accompanying necessity of liquid food is simplicity itself. After the bone is removed the patient's lower jaw, or what remains of it, is fastened firmly in proper position by means of a metal plate, which holds it firmly to the upper jaw. This is to prevent the distention of the muscles, which would naturally follow an operation. During the two weeks in which this plate remains in undisturbed position the patient is fed through a small aperture placed at the center of the mouth. When the plate is removed the teeth in the upper jaw over the amputated half are firmly clasped with gold. So are the teeth on the lower jaw close to the place of amputation. This accomplished, it only remains to connect the gold-clasped upper and lower teeth with a fine but strong spring and the work is perfectly done. That delicate spring is the key to the puzzle which for years has defied solution. It takes the place of the amputated bone, holds the half jaw in position and does its full share in the work of mastication. So much depends upon this spring that a surprisingly delicate test is employed in determining its proper strength. The aim is to have it conform in this particular to the muscular power of the remaining half jaw. To properly determine this delicate ligatures of silk are fastened to the patient's teeth, upper and lower. The free ends of this thread are coiled around an exceedingly sensitive scale and the patient is ordered to move his remaining jaw in all directions. Registered on the scale are the degrees of force exerted, and this record is used as a guide in fixing the strength of the all-important spring.

The Flaw in the Trap.

The celebrated Lessing, having missed money at different times without being able to discover who took it, determined to put the honesty of his servant to the test, and left a handful of gold on the table. "Of course you counted it?" said one of his friends. "Count it?" said Lessing, somewhat embarrassed; "no, I forgot to." At a public sale there was a book which Lessing was very desirous of possessing. He gave three of his friends at different times a commission to buy it at any price. They accordingly bid against each other till they had got as far as ninety crowns. Happily, one of them thought it best to speak to the others, when it appeared they had all been bidding for Lessing, whose forgetfulness on this occasion cost him eighty crowns.—Argonaut.

About Spoons.

The spoon must date back to a very ancient period, for, although it is always possible to eat solid food with the fingers—a very ancient and very natural practice—the same is not the case with a liquid or semi-solid aliment, and it is not possible that the famous Lacedaemonian black broth was consumed otherwise than with a sort of spoon. Moreover, spoons have been found at Pompeii and in several excavations. In a much remoter antiquity the Egyptians, in the seventeenth century before the Christian era, used spoons for mixing certain powders with beverages. These spoons, of which quite a large number are in existence, were remarkable for their generally fine and very rich ornamentation. The museum of the Louvre possesses several of them.

Bank Notes.

If a fellow comes around and wants to bet you $4 that if you will tell him the last four figures of the number of a bank note he will tell you the letter of the note, don't you take him up. You offer to bet him the same way; and if you succeed in getting him to bet, divide the figures of the note by four. If they don't divide even and one remain the letter is "A"; if two remain the letter is "B"; if three remain the letter is "C"; and if they divide even the letter is "D."

Catarh In The Head.

Is undoubtedly a disease of the blood and as such only a reliable blood purifier can effect a perfect and permanent cure. Hood's Sarsaparilla is the best blood purifier, and it has cured many very severe cases of catarh. Catarh oftentimes leads to consumption. Take Hood's Sarsaparilla before it is too late.

I have been bothered with catarh for about twenty years; I had lost sense of smell entirely, and had almost lost my hearing. My eyes were getting so dim that I had to get some one to thread my needle. Now I have my hearing as well as I ever had, and I can see to thread as fine a needle as I ever did; my sense of smell is partly restored and it seems to be improving all the time. I think there is nothing like Ely's Cream Balm for catarh. Mrs. E. F. Grimes, Rendell, Perry Co., O.
